We take privacy seriously

The NVM Estate Agent attaches considerable value to your privacy and regards the rules concerning data protection as self-evident norms. Your data is processed with care and in accordance with the law. Much importance is placed on security, to ensure that your data is protected against unauthorised use, access, alteration, and unlawful destruction. NVM estate agents are continuously investing in improvements to their services, and that includes a privacy programme across the whole of the NVM. Any questions? Please feel free to contact the NVM Estate Agent.

Dataminimisation

Data minimisation is a fundamental principle of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR). According to this principle, personal data may only be collected, processed, and retained to the extent necessary for the purpose for which it is collected.

An NVM Estate Agent will exercise care when requesting personal data, in accordance with the data minimisation principle. This means that the only data to be requested is the data needed at the time, that is, during the relevant phase of the process.

Viewing, altering, or deleting data

According to the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR), you have various rights when it comes to the processing of your data. Examples include the right to view your data, to alter it, to have it deleted, or to have it transferred. If you would like to exercise your rights, please contact the NVM Estate Agent. Their contact information can be found in the 'Data controller' chapter on page 19. You may be required to provide additional information or be asked a security question in order to provide certainty that it is indeed you, before your request is processed. If, for whatever reason, your request cannot be honoured, you will be informed and given the reasons.

The rights in question are as follows:

Viewing or correcting data (viewing and rectification)

You have the right to ask the NVM Estate Agent which of your personal data is being or will be processed and to have inaccurate data rectified.

Having data deleted

In some situations, you have the right to ask that your personal data retained by the NVM Estate Agent be deleted. Remember that certain statutory obligations could apply that may make the deletion of data impossible.

Right of objection

You have the right to object to the processing of your personal data if this takes place on the basis of the legitimate interests of the NVM Estate Agent. In such cases, the NVM Estate Agent will cease processing your data unless there are compelling reasons to continue, or if the processing is necessary for establishing, enforcing, or substantiating a legal claim.

Right to restrict processing

If you are of the opinion that the NVM Estate Agent is processing your personal data unlawfully, you may request that the processing be restricted. This means that the NVM Estate Agent is temporarily prohibited from processing your data. During this period, we will assess whether the restriction should be continued or whether the processing may be resumed.

Right to have data transferred (data portability)

You have the right to receive a copy of your personal data that you have provided to the NVM Estate Agent for the purposes of carrying out an agreement you have concluded with the NVM Estate Agent or for which you have given your consent. This involves only personal data that the NVM Estate Agent has received from you and not data received by the NVM Estate Agent from one or more third parties. The purpose of this right is to enable you to transfer this data simply to another party.

For more information about your rights under the terms of the GDPR, please see the Dutch Data Protection Authority website (<https://www.autoriteitpersoonsgegevens.nl/>). It explains what each of the rights entails.

Processing of personal data by parties with which the NVM Estate Agent collaborates

NVM Estate Agents make every effort to treat personal data with care. They use the data only for the purpose for which it is provided to them. However, if a party with which the NVM Estate Agent collaborates processes the data, the NVM Estate Agent is not responsible if that party processes the data in a way that is not in accordance with the law. Possible examples include the processing of data by a notary.

For example, suppose that the NVM Estate Agent sends data to a company that carries out creditworthiness checks. If this company subsequently processes or shares the data unlawfully (by retaining the data for too long a time, for example), the company itself is responsible, not the NVM Estate Agent.

Another example is that of the collaborative partnerships between some NVM Estate Agents and platforms that rent residential properties or promote new building projects. If such a platform unlawfully processes the personal data of tenants or buyers, by retaining the data unnecessarily, for example, or by sharing it without consent, then responsibility lies with the platform. The NVM Estate Agent cannot be held liable in these cases, as they have no control over what the platform does with the data.

If a party other than the NVM Estate Agent processes your personal data unlawfully, you should contact that party to report the problem. You can also discuss the problem with the NVM Estate Agent, who may then review their collaborative partnership with the party in question and decide whether any further action is necessary.

How can you submit a complaint?

There may be times that you are not satisfied with how the NVM Estate Agent deals with your data. You may decide to submit a complaint. There are various ways of doing this.

You should first make your complaint in writing to the NVM Estate Agent concerned.

If you are not satisfied with how the NVM Estate Agent deals with your complaint, you may submit your complaint to the Klachtenloket Vastgoedprofessionals (<https://www.degeschillencommissie.nl/klachtenloket-vastgoedprofessionals/>), which is an independent body that forms part of the Dutch Foundation for Complaints and Dispute Resolution in The Hague. They will then inform you about your options for taking further action.

Another option is to submit your complaint to the Dutch Data Protection Authority. For more information, please see the Dutch Data Protection Authority website: <https://www.autoriteitpersoonsgegevens.nl/>.

How long does the NVM Estate Agent store your personal data?

The NVM Estate Agent retains your personal data only as long as necessary for the purpose for which it was gathered. For specific data and the period for which it is retained, please refer to the tables below. These tables provide an overview of the various categories of personal data and the period for which it is retained, taking statutory obligations and possible grounds for liability into account.

The definition of 'residential property' in this privacy statement

Any reference in this privacy statement to 'residential property' shall also be taken to mean other immovable property (such as holiday homes, garages, parking spaces, or similar), unless it is clearly different as shown from the context.

Other recipients of personal data

In some cases, we can share personal data with parties not referred to in this privacy statement, such as those involved in carrying out background checks and those operating under the terms of the Prevention of Money Laundering and Financing of Terrorism Act. This depends on the specific services that we use and the nature of the services we provide. If you have any questions on this or would like to receive more information about the parties with which we share your personal data, you may contact us at any time. We will be pleased to give you more detailed information about the specific recipients of your personal data in your situation.

1. You would like to be kept informed with no obligation about the properties listed by the NVM Estate Agent

After you have given your consent, the NVM Estate Agent would like to keep you informed about residential properties, commercial premises, agricultural holdings, plots of land, or new-build projects that could be of interest to you. This service will continue until you state that you no longer wish to receive such information. The following data may be processed:

Data	Data-sharing possible with	NVM Estate Agent retention period
Your name and contact details, such as your telephone number and email address.	none	Until consent is withdrawn

c	Party viewing the property, tenant, tenant's estate agent
d	Funda

7. You are looking for a rental residential property or commercial premises or agricultural holdings to rent, and you have engaged the services of the NVM Estate Agent to help you find a suitable property

Based on your instruction, the NVM Estate Agent initiates a search for a suitable property. The services of the estate agent also extend to the conducting of negotiations and guidance in the process leading to the establishment of the rental agreement and the subsequent process. In the process, the NVM Estate Agent establishes your identity. You may also be approached by Funda to give your opinion of your estate agent. The following data may be processed:

Data	Data-sharing possible with	NVM Estate Agent retention period
Your name, company name (if applicable), address and contact details, such as your telephone number and email address.	a	20 years

16. Use of data by the NVM/brainbay

Brainbay manages and operates a data exchange system, on behalf of the NVM and its members, and others. NVM members, as well as estate agents who are not members of the NVM but who display their properties on the www.funda.nl website, provide certain data via a link to the brainbay exchange system.

The processing of personal data is divided into three main categories, which are explained in more detail below.

A. Ensuring that all NVM members have up-to-date listings of residential properties, commercial premises, and agricultural holdings and other immovable properties.

B. Ensuring that the current properties of all NVM members and other estate agencies are posted on Funda, other relevant websites, and are made available on apps.

C. Building and designing a database that can be used to create valuation reports and other valuations, and to spot developments in the residential housing market, commercial real estate market and agricultural holdings market.

A. Current listings of residential properties, commercial premises, and agricultural holdings with NVM Estate Agents

If you sell or let a residential property, commercial premises or agricultural holdings, whether via an NVM Estate Agent or not, the following data will be shared with other NVM members:

- The address of the residential property, the commercial premises, or the agricultural holdings, the description and characteristics of the property such as the asking price, the year of construction, the surface areas and layout, Land Registry details, municipality-assessed value of the property for the purpose of calculating local property tax, and photographs of the property.
- Date when the property came onto the market, date when the property was taken off the market. Sale subject to contract, sale date, name of estate agent office, transaction price.

B. Current listings of residential properties, commercial properties, and agricultural holdings on property websites, including Funda

If you sell or let a residential property, commercial premises or agricultural holdings, whether via an NVM Estate Agent or not, this data may also be shared with Funda and other property websites, in consultation with the client. This concerns the following data:

- The address of the residential property, the commercial premises, or the agricultural holdings, the description and characteristics of the property such as the asking price, the year of construction, the surface areas and layout, Land Registry details, municipality-assessed value of the property for the purpose of calculating local property tax, and photographs of the property.
- Date when the property came onto the market, name of estate agent office, date of sale.

C. Database with historic listings

The following data is stored in the NVM database for all residential properties, commercial premises and agricultural holdings, that are sold/let via an NVM member or otherwise:

- The address of the residential property, the commercial premises, or the agricultural holdings, the description and characteristics of the property such as the asking price, the year of construction, the surface areas and layout, Land Registry details, municipality-assessed value of the property for the purpose of calculating local property tax, and photographs of the property.
- Date when the property came onto the market, date when the property was taken off the market. Sale subject to contract, transaction date, name of estate agent office, transaction price.
- The postal code (1234AB) and house number of the buyer's previous home address.
- Statistical data about households, based on postal code and street address and house number. This data covers household composition, the age of the main breadwinner, the age of the eldest child, the family income, and the reason for relocating. The information is not linked to natural persons, but is based on statistical estimates of household categories that could be found at a particular location. The data is updated every year.

NVM/brainbay provides data from the database of historic listings (part c) to NVM Estate Agents and NVM valuers to enable them to provide services to their clients. Brainbay also provides this data to selected third parties, including:

- Validation institutes, in order to check valuation reports, following a specific request to that effect.
- Local authorities, for determining the municipality-assessed value of a property for the purpose of calculating local property tax.
- The Ministry of Infrastructure and Water Management, for the purpose of research into the housing market.

- Universities and universities of applied sciences, for research purposes.
- Non-NVM members, valuation software developers, property software companies, banks, project developers, and housing corporations, for research purposes (e.g. gaining a clearer picture of housing requirements in a certain region).

The data is provided to the aforementioned parties, at an aggregate level wherever possible.

NVM/brainbay is the controller for this data. Their contact details are:

17. Internal audits, investigations, and legal advice

The NVM can view your data when carrying out compliance investigations and audits of NVM members. After viewing the data, it is not processed by the NVM in any way. The NVM can also see your data whenever an NVM Estate Agent seeks legal advice from the NVM Legal Service in connection with a property transaction with which you are involved or with a situation that affects a property transaction in which the NVM Estate Agent mediates or negotiates. When dealing with a request for legal advice, only the personal data that is needed to be able to provide advice is processed.

The NVM determines why and how your personal data is used in the situations described in the foregoing paragraph. That is why the NVM is responsible for properly processing your data. If you have any questions about how your data is processed, please contact the NVM at ledenadministratie@nvm.nl or by telephone on +31 (0)30 6085252.
